To Have Americans In Mexico Removed From Districts Where They Are In Danger, Renewed—Carranza Military Commanders Become Active On Both Sides of Boundary

Washington, Jan. 15.—General Carranza's formal reply to representations from the United States demanding that he run down and punish the murderers of American citizens at Santa Ysabel, Mexico, still was awaited today, although direct assurances had come from him that this would be done.

Despite renewed demands in congress for intervention in Mexico there were no indications today of a change in the administration's policy to give Carranza and the de facto government of Mexico a free hand in running down the assassins of Americans and in restoring order and protecting foreigners in that republic. State department officials continued their efforts today to have Americans in Mexico removed from districts where they might be in danger.

ALL TRAINS BEARING FOREIGNERS ESCORTED BY CARRANZA TROOPS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
El Paso, Texas, Jan. 15.—The movement of General Trevino and other Carranza military commanders to round up and destroy the bandits who massacred eighteen Americans in Chihuahua state last Monday, divided attention on this side of the international boundary today with efforts to bring out of the Mexican danger zone foreigners who failed to board the relief train which brought fifty-two refugees to this city last night.

A train sent from here Thursday night reached the city of Parral last night and is expected to arrive at Juarez tomorrow or Monday, under escort of Carranza troops.

On instructions from Washington Thomas D. Edwards, American consul, today requested General Gabriel Gaviro, Carranza commandant here, to produce all available facts concerning the murder of Peter Keane, an American by Mexican bandits at the Hearst Babicora ranch in Chihuahua ten days ago. Edwards also requested the Carranza authorities to procure the body and bring it to the border.

WOODMANSEE IS GLAD HERRICK IS TO BE CANDIDATE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cincinnati, Jan. 15.—Judge D. D. Woodmansee, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Ohio, when asked if the entry of Myron T. Herrick into the race would affect his candidacy, said here today: "I have known for two or three weeks that Mr. Herrick would announce his candidacy as soon as he was certain that he was being called. I have been trying for some time to get a number of candidates in the field from northern Ohio. Now that the list is made up I am in the fight to the finish. In contesting with such men as Herrick, Dick and Daugherty, I consider it an honor and am certain that we will all be friends throughout and likewise certain that we will all be for whoever wins."

Kaiser's Brother Summoned; Festivities Incident to the Imperial Birthday Cancelled

London, January 15.—Prince Henry of Prussia, has been summoned to Berlin, according to a Central News dispatch from Bern. It is also announced, says the dispatch, that Emperor William's birthday festivities for January 27 have been cancelled.

Prince Henry of Prussia is a brother of the German emperor, and the inference probably intended in the news agency dispatch is that he is summoned to Berlin in connection with the illness of Emperor Wil-

Blew Up and Partially Destroyed Submarine in N. Y. Navy Yard

THREE FATALITIES; MANY INJURED

Rescue Parties Driven Back By Gas Fumes

CAUSE AS YET UNKNOWN

But the Explosion Was From the Inside—Report That Engineers Were Testing One of the New Edison Batteries, Recently Reported to Be Successful When Accident Occurred.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, Jan. 15.—The United States submarine E-2 was today blown up and partially destroyed in the New York navy yard. The body of one man killed in the internal explosion was recovered and a report to Brooklyn police headquarters said seven others were killed.

The cause of the explosion, which was said to have opened up several plates of the craft, could not be learned some time after the accident occurred. Several rescue parties which undertook to enter the submarine were driven back by heavy gas fumes.

Newspaper men were barred from the yard and it was with much difficulty that the report of the explosion could be confirmed through yard officials and all details concerning the accident were refused.

It was reported that the engineers in the navy yard were testing one of the new Edison batteries installed in the craft at the time of the explosion. These batteries were intended to obviate the danger to the crews of submarines from gas fumes. Recently submarines of the E-2 class were reported to have made successful trips with the batteries in use.

The submarine was blown apart, it was said at the navy yard from an internal explosion, the cause of which is not known.

Several officers who were lowered into the craft were pulled out after becoming unconscious. The one body recovered was found near a hatchway.

Later reports that came from the navy yard were that 12 men had been taken out of the hold seriously injured and twenty with slight injuries. They were removed to the naval hospital in the yard.

One man was killed outright and at least nine others were injured in the explosion, according to a navy yard employe who was near the scene of the accident. The submarine was afire inside, he said, and in order to put out the flames the little craft was flooded. At the time of the explosion, the E-2 was on the stocks in dry dock No. 2.

Two of the injured died shortly after they reached the naval hospital.

The explosion was said to be due to hydrogen gas, ignited while the new batteries, invented by Thomas A. Edison were being recharged.

Newspaper men were barred from the navy yard and authentic details could not be obtained during the first two hours following the explosion. Some reports had it that ten men were in the submarine at the time and that eight or nine were instantly killed. The deck of the submarine was entirely blown out, it was reported outside of the yard. It was reported at 3 p. m. that a number of bodies were still in the interior. Four of the injured who were removed to the naval hospital outside the yard were thought by surgeons to have little chance for recovery. They were L. C. Miles Chief electrician of Brooklyn, John Holsey, seaman, Baltimore, Md.; Guy H. Clark Jr., Frankfort, N. Y.; and Ramon Otto, Middleburg, Md. Rear Admiral Nathaniel R. Usher, commandant of the navy yard, was listening to Secretary Daniel's speech on preparedness at the Democratic club here when he was informed of the explosion. The commandant went at once to the navy yard and told newspapermen that he would make an immediate investigation.

Germany Refuses to Submit Charge of British Atrocities to American Naval Board; Announces Reprisals

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berlin, Jan. 15.—(By wireless to Sayville.)—In its reply to the British government in the Baralong case, the text of which was made public here today, Germany takes the ground that Great Britain no longer desires to observe the requirements of international law in regard to German submarines, and broke off negotiations on this subject.

In addition to announcing its decision to take measures of reprisal, as made known yesterday, the German government rejects Great Britain's proposal for examination by a neutral board of the Baralong incident and also of three cases in which it is charged Germany violated international law in submarine operations.

The following is the full text of the German reply:

"The British government answered the German memorandum in the Baralong case by expressing doubts on the one hand of the correctness of the facts communicated by the German government, and by making an accusation, on the other hand, against German military and naval forces of having deliberately committed countless crimes against international law, and humanity which had been unpunished and compared with the alleged offense of the captain and crew of the Baralong fades into insignificance. The British government has contented itself with mentioning, without any evidence, three incidents in connection with naval warfare in which German officers are alleged to have committed atrocities in violation of international law.

"The British government proposes an investigation of these cases by a court composed of American naval officers and, under this condition is ready to submit the Baralong case to the same court.

"The German government protests most sharply against the unprecedented unprovoked accusations of the British government in regard to the German army and navy and the imputation that the German authorities have not dealt with any such crimes as have come to their attention. The German army and navy in this war observe the principles of international law and humanity and the higher authorities insist that in the event offenses are committed they shall be investigated most closely and punished sternly.

"The three cases mentioned by the British government were investigated thoroughly at the time by the German authorities. First, in the case of the sinking of the Arabic by a German submarine, the investigation showed that the submarine commander was forced from circumstances to draw the conclusion that the steamer was attempting to ram his craft. He therefore believed himself to be acting in justifiable self-defense when he attacked the ship.

The second case mentioned—the attack of a German destroyer upon a British submarine—occurred in this manner: A fight developed in those waters between two warships, in which the submarine defended itself by gun fire. The British government can have little ground for advancing the charge that Danish neutrality was violated by the German attack, in view of the fact that the British naval forces in a series of cases attacked German ships in neutral waters.

"Finally in the case of the destruction of the British steamer Ruel, the German submarine merely applied measures of reprisal announced by Germany in February, 1917. These measures are in harmony with international law because England is endeavoring by illegal means to tie up the legitimate maritime commerce between Germany and neutral countries, to cut off Germany from all imports, and thereby starve the German people. "Appropriate reprisals are permissible against measures in violation of international law.

"In all cases, the German naval forces intended only to destroy hostile ships and in no way to play helpless persons who were attempting to save their lives. The assertions to the contrary of the British government must be repudiated with all decisiveness as untrue."

"The German government is of the opinion that it must reject as unacceptable the British proposal to submit these three cases together with the Baralong case to investigation by a court of American naval officers. It takes the standpoint that charges against members of the German forces must be investigated by its own competent authorities and that the persons accused be given every surety of an unprejudiced verdict with just punishment where necessary.

"In the Baralong case it has advanced to the British government no request other than this, not doubting for a moment that a court martial composed of British naval officers would inflict suitable punishment for the cowardly and perfidious murder. This request was the more justifiable because of the fact that the guilt of the commander and crew of the Baralong was established beyond doubt by affidavits made by Americans who are neutral witnesses and submitted to the British government.

"The manner in which the British government has answered the German government does not correspond in form and contents with the gravity of the situation and makes it impossible for Germany to negotiate further with the British government in regard to this matter. The German government, therefore, takes the ground, as the final result of the negotiations that the British government under empty pretext has left unfulfilled the justified demands for an examination of the Baralong case and thereby has made itself responsible for the crime of defying international law and humanity, showing that it desires no longer to observe, in respect to German submarines, one of the first rules of war—namely, to spare enemies incapacitated for further action—in order to prevent them from conducting warfare at sea in accordance with established international law.

Inasmuch as the British government has declined to make amends for this outrageous incident, the German government feels itself compelled to take into its own hands punishment for this unprovoked crime and to adopt measures of reprisal corresponding with the provocation."

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Jan. 15.—Press dispatches from London telling of the seizure of correspondence from Captain Franz Von Papen recalled military attaché to the United States, when he reached Paimouth, England, enroute to Germany and relating that his letters showed he made frequent payments to persons charged with responsibility for blowing up munitions plants and bridges in the United States aroused the deepest interest in official and diplomatic circles here today.

"I don't believe it," was the only comment count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador would make concerning the dispatches.

At the German embassy it was said the ambassador had paid considerable money to Von Papen as salary and for the expense of such work as he was expected to conduct as military attaché.

Administration officials declined to comment on the dispatches pending the receipt of copies of the correspondence, which have been given to the American embassy in London for transmission to the state department.

REVISION BOARD TODAY APPROVED TWO REPUBLICANS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, Jan. 15.—The state tax commission today approved James D. Templeton and Robert E. Edmondson, Republicans, as members of the board of revision of Hamilton county, but disapproved of John Washburn, Democrat, on account of his advanced age. He is 76. In his place they appointed Anderson Varley, Democrat.

Among the eighteen county boards of revision approved were those of Ross, Muskingum, Stark, and Ashland counties.

Because the committee of county officials which appoints the board of revision could not agree in Clermont county, the state tax commission was forced to name the board. It appointed Charles L. Ireton and Bruce Daugherty, Republicans, and Lucien Kahan, Democrat.

Other counties whose boards were approved were: Putnam, Van Wert, Belmont, Huron, Columbiana, Madison, Wayne, Medina, Vinton, Defiance, Athens and Preble.

Personnel of the boards of revision as approved by the state tax commission includes:

Muskingum, county: F. A. Bolin, Democrat, Zanesville; John P. Ridgway, Republican, Osage; Albert C. Strate, Republican, Roseville.

INTERNATIONAL USAGE

Which Prevailed Before the Present War, for Which United States Has Contended Strenuously Must Govern Ultimately, Great Britain's Assertion of Her Power On the Sea.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Jan. 15.—That Great Britain will soon announce the establishment of an actual blockade of Germany and her allies, thereby superseding the condition which had been established by the orders in council, was a statement made today by Americans who have been in close contact with the machinery of the British orders in council in consequence of their acting here as representatives of American shippers whose business had been affected by the execution of the orders.

A person who can speak authoritatively and who has acted as a representative of American's interests in connection with British prize court proceedings, reviewed today for the Associated Press the evolution of the orders in council. He said:

"The British government shows an unmistakable tendency now to shift around to the persistently expressed American contention that the international law which prevailed before the present war, must ultimately govern Great Britain's assertion of her sea power. It is well known that when war began the admiralty urged the foreign office the necessity for the declaration of an actual blockade, but the latter believed that the susceptibilities of neutrals could be better met by orders in council and, after the adoption of these the government began its interminable agreements with neutrals.

OHIO MINERS TO BIG CONVENTION AT INDIANAPOLIS

Hazleton, Pa., Jan. 15.—Most of the delegates from the anthracite fields will leave tonight for Indianapolis to attend the international convention of the United Mine Workers of America, which opens on Tuesday. The demands of union anthracite miners whose wage agreement expires March 31, have already been framed and only await the official approval of the international body.

The demands of the hard coal miners include: Twenty per cent wage advance; complete recognition of the union and a two year agreement. The present contract was made for four years. It is believed here that there will not be an anthracite strike even if the scale committee and the operators are unable to enter into a new contract before April 1.

NEW HEAD OF B. & O. SYSTEM IN THIS CITY

Donald F. Stevens, superintendent of the Newark division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad system, is a practical railroader in every sense of the word and his experience in the different branches covers a wide range of varied service.

Incidentally Mr. Stevens is an agreeable young man and he has climbed the ladder of success with remarkable rapidity. He is easy of approach and a short acquaintance is convincing evidence that he is endowed with especial executive ability.

Mr. Stevens was born in Minneapolis, Minn., on Nov. 4, 1882, and is therefore a little past his thirty-third year. After leaving the grade schools he entered Shattuck Military Academy at Fairbault, Minn., next entered Cascadia school at Ithaca, N. Y., and then attended Cornell University in the same city.

Superintendent Stevens entered railroad service as a track laborer on the Great Northern railroad and was soon promoted to section foreman and extra gang foreman. He was promoted to track supervisor in 1903, and shortly after became an operating agent on the Rock Island road. He left that position to accept one as a brakeman on the same line and also served as a fireman.

Bound to serve in every branch Mr. Stevens gave his best efforts to his employers and was rewarded by being offered the responsible position of yard master of the New Haven road at New Haven, Conn. He was next made trainmaster of the New Haven & Hartford railroad in New York City. He was promoted to be terminal trainmaster of the same road in September, 1912.

On May 17, 1914, Mr. Stevens entered the B. & O. service as assistant supervisor of fuel consumption and on Nov. 12 of the same year promoted to train master of the Chicago division with offices at Garrett, Ind. He remained there until May 17 of last year when he was promoted to be assistant superintendent of the Monongah division with headquarters at Grafton, W. Va. Jan. 1, of this month he was appointed superintendent of the Newark division.

Mr. Stevens will move his family here from Grafton in about two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are the parents of two sons and one daughter.

Obituary

Clark E. Dilts.

Clark E. Dilts, 47 years old, a prominent dairyman and fruit grower of near Thornville, died this morning at 3:45 o'clock, following an illness of several years of tubercular trouble. While his condition had been serious for some time, it was not thought that the end was so near and his wife started some time before for Newark to attend market where the Dilts have had a stand for years.

Mr. Dilts, a son of George Dilts, was a native of Perry county, having been born on the farm where he died. He made a great success of his fruit and dairy business and was regarded as an authority on both these branches of agriculture.

He was married to Miss Myrtle Howard of Columbus, who with one daughter, Eva, survive. His parents and brothers died several years ago.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock at Rev. Mr. Keifer officiating. Burial in the cemetery adjoining the chapel.

Mrs. Florence G. Hickey. At 11:15 Thursday morning, Mrs. Florence Gertrude Hickey went home. She had been sick only a short time but God so willed that she should cease her duties and enter into rest.

Florence Gertrude Weiss was born in Steuben county, Indiana, October 5, 1856, where she spent her younger days. She was one of three children of William and Priscilla Weiss. Her father and mother have departed, and her two brothers, Frank Weiss of Fremont, Ind., and Freeman Weiss of Kendallville, Ind., survive to mourn the loss of their only sister.

PREPAREDNESS NOW STANDS OUT AS MOST VITAL ISSUE

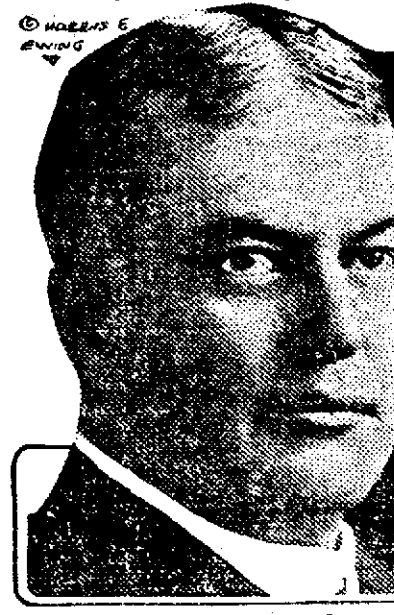

COLONEL ROOSEVELT

PRESIDENT WILSON

SENATOR BURTON

REPRESENTATIVE GARDNER

SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN

GENERAL WOOD

National preparedness has become the most vital issue before the American people. President Wilson is insisting that legislation must be enacted without delay to the attainment of this end.

Many plans have been proposed in congress, and the debates will be most heated and interesting. The most radical view is that held by former President Roosevelt, who apparently believes that the United States should be constantly kept on a war basis. His program contemplates a military establishment equal to that of the most powerful nations of Europe. The colonel believes that in no other way can we safeguard our territory and our national honor.

The program introduced in congress by President Wilson constitutes the demands of the administration. This program is a compromise between the various departments of the government. However, it is clearly not acceptable to many of those who participated in its preparation. It was not accepted by the war staff or the war college and military experts believe that it falls short of the requirements of the present time. The plan for establishing a continental army has been particularly criticized, especially by those who believe in rendering more efficient the militia of the various states.

Congressman Gardner, of Massachusetts, is considered the author of the present movement for national preparedness. He was the first man in congress to agitate the issue and to call attention directly to our dangerous condition of military unpreparedness and naval inefficiency.

General Wood, chief of staff of the army, has given particular attention to the more technical and scientific questions involved. Senator Chamberlain of Oregon is chairman of the senate committee on military affairs, and will have charge of the administration measures in the senate. He is essentially militant and believes in maintaining our position regardless of developments.

One of the advocates of a rational system of national preparedness is Theodore Burton former senator from Ohio. Senator Burton has no sympathy with preparation for offensive warfare. He believes in such a degree of preparedness as is essential to our national defense. He advocates the enlargement of a regular army and the reorganization and development of the national guard as an effective adjunct to our regular military establishment. He also lays stress upon the need for available officers, thoroughly trained in the theory of tactics of warfare. For this reason he advocates enlarging the military and naval academies at Annapolis and West Point, although there is much opposition to such a course.

GREAT BRITAIN WARNS WILSON BY NEWSPAPER

THAT NO INTERFERENCE WITH BLOCKADE MEASURES WILL BE TOLERATED.

No Intention of Loosening Grip Upon Germany, But Will Instead Be Tightened.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

London, Jan. 15.—The Pall-Mall Gazette discussing American press reports regarding the attitude which the United States may adopt regarding the blockade question says: "If Count Bernstorff succeeds in obtaining a quid pro quo for the outward recognition by Germany of her acts of piracy, and succeeds in enlisting the United States as one of Germany's minor, indirect allies, in her effort to rule the world, we may expect fresh attacks upon our interpretation of international law. If President Wilson should elect to walk the road so obligingly constructed for him by Berlin, it is well he should realize where it is going to lead him. The British empire, which is shedding blood and not ink for the vindication of 'neutral rights' has reached a stage in the conflict where technicalities will not be allowed to restrain the legitimate use of all its weapons of warfare.

"Our right to prevent supplies from reaching the enemy is absolute and if the process assumes fresh disguises, it is the business of international law to strip them off and not to be fostered by the wording of its former rescripts. No British government would dare to relax its grip on Germany now, in deference to interests and threats of outsiders who are chiefly interested in what profit they can make out of the world's agony. The blockade in future must be tighter instead of looser and nothing will impair to it a sterner temper than any external interference."

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION FOR CARRIERS

MILITANT LEADER SEEKS RELIEF FOR SUFFERING SERBS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

New York, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the British suffrage leader, who was detained at Ellis Island when she arrived today on the steamship St. Paul, was ordered excluded from this country by the special board of inquiry which sat at the immigration station today. An appeal will be made to Washington, it was stated.

Mrs. Pankhurst and her secretary, Miss Joan Wickham, were walking down the St. Paul's gangplank, when an immigration officer informed the suffrage leader that she would have to go to Ellis Island. She protested vigorously but the official explained that although she had been allowed to enter in 1913, she was still subject to the federal statutes barring aliens convicted of "crimes involving moral turpitude."

Mrs. Pankhurst then declared that she had not come here in connection with suffrage, that she would not under any circumstances discuss suffrage while here and that she would not even attend a suffrage meeting. She added that she came here expressly at the request of Cheddornil Miyatovich, former Serbian minister of state and foreign affairs, who is now head of the Serbian relief commission.

Mrs. Pankhurst was held at Ellis Island immigration station. Federal authorities said Mrs. Pankhurst was detained because she had served a sentence in a British prison. She was similarly detained when she arrived here more than two years ago, but was quickly released and allowed to enter this country.

Even the fellow who knows it all may live to learn that experience is the best teachers.

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ash, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

The Cox Speech.

Here are four more paragraphs from ex-Governor Cox's Dayton speech. They were printed in the news columns at the time of the delivery:

"Instead of the newspapers carrying daily stories of research work by the state, of plans going forward for the bettering of industrial relations, the improvement in prison methods, and the further efficiency of our institutions of education—we read only now of the brandishing of the political war axe."

"The Willis regime has been designated as the great Do Nothing administration in our history. If measured by constructive service this charge is true—but in spoils and schemes and methods that are unseemly it has a great record of accomplishment. Never has warrior hold quenched in larger measure his thirst for blood than the leader of the present tribe of head hunters in the state house."

"Few people will ever know the tremendous effort made by the administration of Frank B. Willis to wreck and crush the compulsory workmen's compensation law."

"It has been said that the Cox administration was defeated because it passed too many good laws for hasty assimilation, and that it was criticised because the full force of authority centered in the governor was exercised. In an analysis of that contention, let us submit this observation: If it is the desire of the people of Ohio not to have constructive legislation passed when it is needed, and if their wish be certain that backbone depart from executive organism, then it is my recommendation that Frank B. Willis be elected governor of Ohio for life. He meets in fullest measure these specifications."

Serving the Public.

Senator Works of California has introduced a bill in the senate proposing a mobile land force and military reserve of 200,000 men and the appropriation of $50,000,000 a year for ten years to maintain the corps.

Sensor Works asks that the force be required to give ten months of each year to productive work of reforestation, irrigation and flood prevention and two months to military training. The force would normally be under control of the secretary of the interior, but in time of war the command of the force would pass to the war department.

In a speech explaining and defending his plan, the senator suggests that a million men might be recruited from the crowded tenement districts of the cities. He said that the expense of his plan could be met by the annual saving from flood waste to be effected through irrigation, reclamation and reforestation work of his provisional army during ten months in the year.—Washington dispatch.

vancement of commercial interests under favoring conditions after the restoration of peace.

For almost eighteen months the seas have been closed to Germany and its foreign trade has been at a standstill. In interviews secured in Germany by Gustav C. Roeder, staff correspondent of The World, it has been shown how the Germans are already planning, the moment the opportunity arrives, to regain their old position in the world's markets and with the aid of German shipping and banking to fortify German industries.

That Germany will not find Great Britain indifferent or inactive is plainly indicated by the speech of President Runciman of the board of trade in the House of Commons. When the war of armies and navies ceases and the war of trade is resumed, it is to be foreseen that German ships will not again have the freedom of British ports on the old easy terms, and that, in whatever lands the British flag flies, barriers stronger than those of prejudice will be raised against German trade.

When President Runciman speaks of securing the co-operation of the dominions he outlines a policy for the British Empire absolutely at variance with its past treatment of Germany. Up to the beginning of the war Germany had profited immensely by the liberal laws and practices of its great rival. Under changed conditions it will face an industrial struggle severer and more costly than anything that it has known in the half century of its marvellous growth.

In this respect the tax on its powers of recuperation will be enormous, and for a war of trade retaliation it is unequally equipped.

Macmillen's Newark Program.

Francis Macmillen, the celebrated violinist, who will open the concert series of the Woman's Music club at the Auditorium Theatre on Wednesday evening, January 13, will play a varied program. It is a program designed to show each phase of this wonderful artist's ability. Starting with the first movement of the Tchaikowsky concerto, a work that tests the intellectual and technical powers of the performer in the highest degree, the program ends with the highly pleasing introduction and Tarantelle by Sarasate. The latter composer is recognized as a past-master in writing "effect pieces" for the violin, of which the introduction and Tarantelle is one of his best works.

The Tchaikowsky concerto is the only important work for violin and orchestra written by the most prolific of modern composers of symphonic music, Peter Tchaikowsky. This concerto was written under the influence of his great friend and colleague, Leopold von Auer, to whom it was dedicated. Later in life Auer played the work with several original changes in certain passages. This angered Tchaikowsky, who promptly altered the dedication to Adolf Brodsky. However, the so-called Auer edition of the concerto is the one still used by all prominent violinists. Several of the passages to which Tchaikowsky objected appear in the first movement and are played by Macmillen in his rendition of the work. They are especially difficult from a technical standpoint.

It is also well adapted for performance with piano accompaniment, in which form Macmillen will play the work in Newark.

The Menuet by Grieg, which follows the Tchaikowsky concerto on Macmillen's program, is perhaps the daintiest little piece in his great repertoire. It is played with muted strings and forms a marked contrast with the broad tonal effect heard in the closing strains of the Tchaikowsky movement.

The Vivace by Haydn has been arranged by the famous pedagogue and former master of Macmillen, Leopold von Auer. The vivace is exceedingly difficult and much of the success depends upon the smoothness and finish with which it is played. It also serves to display the rhythmic accent of the performer.

"Mour Monique" is one of the small musical gems which are so justly celebrated. The Prelude and Allegro by the ancient Italian composer Pugnani, has been thoroughly modernized by Fritz Kreisler. The broad stroke of the Prelude at once commands the attention of the listener and prepares the way for the full enjoyment of the vigorous Allegro, which works up to a powerful climax that never seems to end. The composition is a tower of strength in violin literature.

"Barcarolle" by Macmillen was composed quite recently and received its first performance in manuscript form at a music festival in Iowa last spring. The composition met with instant success. Although it has been on the market a few weeks only, it is already considered a "big seller" by the publisher. It is quite characteristic of the lighter side of Francis Macmillen's art both as a composer and player.

"Maiden's Wish," or "Maiden's Wish," is considered one of the most charming arrangements made by Macmillen. It had its first performance at one of Macmillen's New York recitals quite recently, and met with such instantaneous success that Carl Fischer, the publisher, bought the transcription before he left the concert hall.

The Melodie by Schumann, as the title would indicate is a broad singing melody showing the great tonal power of the performer. The Ave Maria by Schubert is similarly designed to show the great tonal qualities of the player.

The Spanish Dance by Sarasate, like the Tarantelle, is a great "effect piece" and the Serenade a Colombine by Gabriel Pierné is calculated to charm the listener.

It is a program that will give unlimited satisfaction, both to the musician and to the listener, and should prompt all lovers of good music to attend the recital.

Rippling Rhymes

Speeding Years.

How swift the years roll on, my friend, how swift the years roll on! They come and make their bow and bend, they smile and then they're gone! Some morning, in the mirror's face, we see a snowy hair; and ere we're time to die the place, a hundred more are there. But yesterday my locks were brown, and life seemed in its dawn, and now the gray spreads o'er my crown—how swift the years roll on! But yesterday I held a child upon my willing knee; an infant innocent and mild, and beautiful was he; and now in tones of bass he speaks, he's learned to toil and spin, and he has whiskers on his cheeks, and more upon his chin. Oh, can this be that little child, this man of weight and brawn? How can the two be reconciled? How swift the years roll on! But yesterday my limbs were free from stiffness, pain and ache; and I could climb the tallest tree, or swim across a lake. But if I walk a block today my wind and strength are gone; they take me homeward on a drag; how swift the years roll on!

Salt in Roumania.

Veritable mountains of salt are to be seen in some sections of Roumania, for the salt deposits cover an enormous area and have a thickness varying from 600 even to 800 feet. At Sarat there is a mountain of salt, and steam shovels can be used to load the waiting cars. In other cases the gallery system is employed, and electrically driven machines turn out blocks a cubic yard in size, like great pieces of granite.

WHICH?

EVOLUTION OF A WORD.

"Hypocrite" Was Once the Title of a Pantomime Actor.

Do you know what a hypocrite is? Why, he is a person who uses the church as a cloak to cover graft and greed and all manner of evil-doing. At least that is what he was in the days of our fathers. More recently he has taken on another color, a different kind of cloak. He need not be a disseminator merely in the matter of religion. Hypocrisy may be practiced in friendship, in culture, in philanthropy. It goes a degree further even than that, for the hypocrite may deceive himself as well as his fellow man.

But how did the word, which is obviously a compound of "hypo," meaning "under," and the very familiar "critic" come to mean a person who deceives either himself or other people? This question suggests a second one: What is a critic?

The Greek verb from which the noun was derived meant originally to analyze, separate or judge. So the critic came to be one who had been set apart or judged worthy to plead a cause or present an argument. At one stage of his evolution the critic was a person who recited the works of the great dramatists. He was an actor—who did not act. The gestures were supplied by a man trained for that purpose, who went through a sort of pantomime, while the real interpreter of the part gave the melodiously intoned words. The pantomime actor was a "hypocrite" because he played an under part to the "critic." Later, when the speaking and acting were done by the same person, he was called the "hypocrite." Now any one who plays a part not his own is practicing hypocrisy.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

ANCIENT MEALTIMES.

When They Rose at 5, Dined at 9 and Supped at 5.

The change in mealtimes is evidenced by the old rhyme:

To rise at five and dine at nine,
To sup at five and bed at nine,
Will make a man live to ninety-nine.

But one suspected that the change in the names of the meals rather than in the hours. Our ancestors would have termed our luncheon dinner and our dinner supper. It is a curious fact that in some of the Oxford colleges, where the founders made allowances for the meals of the students, a much larger sum is allotted for supper than for dinner, implying that the former was the more substantial meal. Taken at 5 or 6 o'clock, it was really "early dinner."

Some particulars of the mealtimes of our ancestors may be found in William Harrison's "Description of England," published in 1587:

"With us the nobility, gentry and students do ordinarily go to dinner at 11 before noon and to supper at 5 or between 5 and 6 at afternoon. The merchants dine and sup seldom before 12 at noon and 6 at night, especially in London. The husbandmen dine also at high noon, as they call it, and sup at 7 or 8, but out of the term in our universities the scholars dine at 10. As for the poorest sort, they generally dine and sup when they may, so that to talk of their order of repast it were but a needless matter."—London Chronicle.

BOTTLING AN EGG.

Easy Trick That Makes Plain Some Principles of Physics.

If you place an egg on the neck of a carafe almost any one would say that it is impossible to put the egg into the carafe whole. Yet it can be done, and at the same time an important principle in air pressure can be proved.

First have the egg boiled hard and then peel it. Make a torch of folded paper, light and push it into the carafe. After it has burned almost out place the egg on the neck of the carafe, small end downward, so that it acts as a stopper. But be sure you do not push it at all.

The heat of the burning paper has by this time driven much of the air out of the carafe and heated what remains inside. When it has finally burned out the carafe will begin to cool, the air in it becomes cooler and therefore takes up much less space. The pressure of the atmospheric air outside of the bottle is exerted upon the egg, which lengthens out gradually and at last drops into the carafe with a loud "plump."

In this way several important points in physics are made plain. First it is seen how heat rarifies the air and when the air in the carafe cools creates a partial vacuum. Then is proved the fact of atmospheric pressure by the way in which the egg acts. At last we see the egg forced into the carafe, so that the air from without may fill the vacant spaces.—Exchange.

Courtship in Spain.

In sunny Spain etiquette is so very restrictive in the matter of courtship that it is a wonder that young people ever manage to get married at all. Even when, after many difficulties, the engagement is accomplished, the parents have a deciding voice in fixing the date, and, as they prefer long engagements, the wedding day is usually fixed somewhere in the dim future.

The best man and maid of honor are expected not only to fulfill the usual duties, but to contribute—sometimes very substantially—to the expenses of the wedding feast. Wedding cake is unknown, but instead packets of sugared almonds are distributed among the guests and sent by post to those who are unable to be present.—Kansas City Star.

A Tiger Story.

There is a story current at Kuloang, central China, about a tiger which gave trouble in that quarter. A missionary and his wife had been worried by the tiger prowling nightly around their home. They determined to be rid of it and one night tied a cow up in the back yard and a dog at the front of the house. Then they armed themselves with guns and kept watch. The tiger appeared. The missionary fired and killed the cow. The wife rushed to see what had happened, and in her absence the tiger ate the dog.—Exchange.

A prettily appointed luncheon was given on Thursday at the Clarendon Hotel in Zanesville by the women of St. James Episcopal church of that city in honor of Mrs. W. A. Henderson wife of the retiring rector. The table was set in the form of the letter "T" with Mrs. Henderson occupying the place of honor. The table was done in pink and white with a wealth of carnations. Covers were laid for 54 the only out of town guest being Mrs. L. P. Franklin, of this city.

MODERN GREEKS.

They Show Little of the Grace of Their Famous Ancestors.

Against the background of antiquity it is easy to project the ties of sentiment which bind the life of the Greek of today to that of the classic worthies from whom he claims direct descent, and it was with only a slight shock that I learned that the man who brought me my morning coffee at the legation bore the tremendous name of Themistocles. And yet it is difficult to visualize the modern Athenian with those who once walked his streets. Thinking of Homer, of Praxiteles and of Phidias, one looks for Helen, for Hermes and for Athena, but the only Helen I ever saw in Athens was an American girl, married to a member of the cabinet and whose golden hair, blue eyes and classic features made her at once the reigning hostess in the city. And it is only in the islands or deep in the country, where the Albanian flood which swept across the Aegean plain has never reached, that one finds the facial lineaments and the bodily grace which the ancient sculptor has taught the modern world as being common to all Greeks of classic time.

This survival persists chiefly among the children, because incessant toil and scanty nourishment soon deprive both boys and girls of their native grace and stamp them with the meretricious marks of a life of labor.—Former United States Minister to Greece George H. Moses in National Geographic Magazine.

Naming a Novel.

"The thing to do," said the literary man, "is to call your novel after the name of the leading character."

"Why?" asked the youngest novelist.

"Because the best and the most successful novels always have such names," the other replied. "Take the great novelists. The greatest book of each gets its title from the leading character's name."

"Instances are easy to give. What is the best novel of Dickens? It is 'David Copperfield.' What is the best novel of Thackeray? It is 'Henry Esmond.' What is the best novel of Scott? It is 'Ivanhoe.' What is the best novel of Thomas Hardy? 'Tess of the D'Urbervilles.' Of George Meredith? 'The Ordeal of Richard Feverel.' Of Rider Haggard? 'Allan Quatermain.' Of Tolstoy? 'Anna Karenina.'"

—New York Post.

OHIO FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

Esther Cole Jackson, Director of Press

The meetings of the bi-ennial will not be held in the Hippodrome as first planned but in the Seventh Regiment Armory, which in many respects is much better adapted to the needs of the Federation than the Hippodrome. Located in a more quiet environment, it has an auditorium that will seat ten thousand people with numerous apartments suitable for committee meetings, conferences and state headquarters. The fact that the floor is level, will be offset by making the platform sufficiently high so that those in the rear will be able to see the speaker and sounding boards will make it possible to hear situated at Park avenue and 62nd street, it will not be as accessible as could be wished—but the local bi-ennial board is planning to secure special means of transportation. It will be possible to secure a substantial luncheon and a table d'hôte dinner at reasonable prices and delegates desiring to come in the morning and remain until after the evening session may be accommodated.

Ohio Candidates.

Mrs. S. B. Sneath of Tiffin, first vice president general, Federation of Women's Clubs, has gone to Old Point Comfort, Va., to attend the board meeting of the General Federation. Mrs. Sneath, who has the enviable reputation of being the best loved woman in the General Federation is Ohio's candidate for president at the New York bi-ennial next May.

Mrs. Sneath's popularity is due not alone to her personal grace and charm and her never failing courtesy, but also because of broad grasp and intimate knowledge of all Federation affairs, her superior executive ability, her balance, her strong sense of justice and her faithful work and valuable service to the Federation. With such a candidate, Ohio need have no fear of the outcome.

Baby Week.

Dr. Josephine Pierce, chairman of committee on public health, is making a strong appeal to the club women of Ohio for their co-operation in the National-wide Baby Week. It is sincerely desired that the same enthusiasm be shown as marked the attempt to improve birth registration in which Ohio did such efficient work.

Each City Federation president is urged to organize at once for this campaign. The Children's Bureau of the U. S. Dept. of Labor will be glad to furnish any club a bulletin describing the methods used in planning for a community program.

It is suggested that each club undertake this work should appoint as early as possible a committee to make a preliminary survey of all organizations which should be asked to co-operate and preparations be begun as soon as possible.

Those in charge of this nationwide movement report most encouraging progress in the plans throughout the country.

Mrs. Pennbacker, the president of the General Federation, recommends two short plays that may be given should any club desire to emphasize Baby Week. They are "Theft of Thistle-down" and "The Narrow Door" by Prof. Geo. M. P. Baird of the University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa. Prof. Baird has generously consented to allow the plays to be presented anywhere provided he be notified in advance and furnished a copy of the program. The plays may be obtained from the November number of "The Journal of Outdoor Life."

South-east District Meeting.

The South-east district meeting will be held in Marietta, January 18 and 19. A reception will be held the evening of the 18th.

Study of Suffrage Question.

Pursuant to the resolution passed at the Toledo Convention, namely the O. F. W. C. sanction the Johnson plan of studying suffrage, the clubs of the state desiring to study suffrage are advised by the executive board of the O. F. W. C. to apply to Miss Anna B. Johnson, Springfield, O., for suggestions.

President Appoints Chairmen.

Miss Bessie Sargent Smith of Cleveland has consented to serve as chairman of Library Extension. The president has chosen Mrs. William Coale of Warren as chairman of literature.

All the chairmanships are now filled and the known efficiency of those selected promises much for successful conduct of the Federation work during the administration.

Appeal From Director of Press.

It is this publicity column is going to be of any real value to the club women of Ohio, your director of press must have your help.

President of City Federation, presidents of clubs, send accounts of all the worth while things you are doing. If you have done anything along any line of activity usually or unusually engaged in by club women, write it up in a concise form and send to this department. You cannot estimate its value to the life of our federation.

It must be borne in mind that this is not a private enterprise—but a labor of love, pure and simple, because of belief in the Federation and a desire to further its power for good.

Many were the comments heard during the recent convention of Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs held in Toledo, as to the smoothness with which it ran. There was no apparent machinery, so well had plans been laid by the chairman of the central committee, Mrs. Prentice E. Rood and her assistants. Yet there was well oiled machinery and perhaps the following report submitted by the chairman of finance, Mrs. Walter B. Snyder, will be of interest to the delegates and visitors to the convention. The balance left on hand was presented as a birth gift to Toledo Women's Association of which more than any one thing, Toledo Club women, are proud. Receipts, $1,338.22; disbursements, $1,296.35. Balance, $41.86.

DANCER'S AFFAIR WITH CHURCHMAN BRINGS TRAGEDY

Miss Elsie Buerlein.

The bullet with which Mrs. Lillian Fyfer wounded John Ulrich, wealthy manufacturer and churchman of Joliet, Ill., a few days ago, has had the further effect of ending the heart affairs of Ulrich and Miss Elsie Buerlein, formerly a dancer in the chorus at a Chicago theater. Ulrich now says if he recovers he will return to his wife and children whom he deserted in Philadelphia in 1910.

Why Water Quenches Thirst.

Thirst, a word of Anglo-Saxon origin and akin to the Latin torreo and our torrid or parched, describes a peculiar sensation of dryness and heat located in the tongue and throat. Artificial thirst may be produced by the passage of a current of air over the mucous membrane of these parts, but normal thirst is the consequence of a lack of liquid in the system. The agony of extreme thirst is due to the fact that all the tissues sympathize in this distress. It is then at a refreshing relief that a supply of water comes to thirsting lips, replacing what has been lost, cooling the parched palate and rapidly removing the craving which has depressed the system. In short, water quenches thirst just because it supplies what at the moment is wanting and is most eagerly desired, so that Solomon could properly compare the gift of "cold waters to a thirsty soul" to the advent of good news. Thirst is to some extent appeased by the injection of water into the blood or body, though no fluid reaches the part to which the sensation is referred.

Wandering of Minor Planets.

The "mislays" of the minor planets is sometimes due to their actually failing to keep their appointments at the places where, according to calculation, they ought to be. An instance is the case of No. 153, otherwise known as Hilda. Dr. Palisa discovered her in 1875 and calculated her orbit. But attempts to find her again failed, and she was almost given up as lost until Dr. Palisa found her again in 1879—a long way, however, from where she had been expected. The discrepancy was caused by the effect upon Hilda of the attraction of Jupiter, of whom she is a comparatively near neighbor. For these little planets are scattered over a wide belt. Hilda gets within 33,000,000 miles of the orbit of Jupiter, and Aethra at times actually comes nearer to the sun than Mars ever does.—London Chronicle.

Facts About the Sun.

Scientists estimate the volume or size of the sun at more than 1,000,000 times that of the earth, its mass at more than 300,000 times and its density about 50 per cent more than water, but they have not attempted to express its weight in figures. They estimate that the attraction of gravitation alone at the surface of the sun is twenty-seven times that of the earth, so that a 200 pound man on the earth would weigh more than 5,000 pounds at the sun, provided he could stand the temperature long enough to be weighed.

Weekly Market Summary

(Associated Press Telegram)

New York, Jan. 15.—War stocks and shares of companies having Mexican connections were the chief features of this week's irregular and professional stock market. Liquidation and short selling of the latter class began early and reached its height during the mid-week with disastrous effects to some of the more speculative shares. Particularly notable steel which fell to less than half its high price of a few months ago.

The Mexican situation was responsible for the severe break in Mexican Petroleum and American Smelting. Other shares of like character declined in sympathy. Substantial recoveries were scored throughout the latter part of the week, but the depression was attributed to the operations of the bears especially in the financial stocks with the continued activity in the steel industry.

Coppers were less conspicuous but recent high prices for the metal, especially for export is increasing and according to trade reports as much as 25 per cent being offered for the refined metal by foreign consumers. Trade in general shows some falling off, as compared with the big volume of holiday business, but bank clearings indicate a plethora of money at reserve centers. Railroad tonnage is still being offered for the refinancing of the recent embargo necessary.

The only direct reflection of the European situation on foreign exchange, remittances on Germany hardened perceptibly and rates on London and Paris were firm but Italian exchange fell to its lowest record, mainly as a result of unsatisfactory economic conditions in that country.

THE CHURCHES

L. Stanley Fellows, writing in the Ohio Endeavor, issues instructions to the publicity workers of young people's societies in the state, which are worthy of the attention of all societies using the newspapers to impart to the public information of the activities of the various organizations.

So timely and well selected are the instructions that Newark church and society reporters would earn the everlasting gratitude of every newspaper editor with whom they come in contact by observing the suggestions. Mr. Fellows says:

"Now lend me your ears a couple of minutes while I whisper some big-little facts in newspaper work. If you would retain the confidence of your editors, get into the 'style' of the paper; write as though you were a reporter on that paper; write always in the third person—never say 'we'; don't ramble—get to the point quick, and stay there; don't talk 'churchy'—it is not an ecclesiastical treatise but a newspaper article you are writing; don't talk about the 'blessed indwelling of the Holy Spirit' and the 'thrill of God'; when you talk to the public, talk of Jesus Christ, and 'God.' This is not irreverence; it is common sense, and the successful publicity worker must be blessed with a good stock of that. Don't get 'mushy'; talk cold facts. Don't pitter-patter your facts in a 'gentle-rain'; dash it on the mail at once. And yet—do not get in a rut; make every article different, and make them readable."

Another writer, also dealing with the relations of the church and the newspapers says:

"And now, one last, long, pleading counsel: If the papers are good enough to print long accounts of your plans before they actually take place, do not fail in a single instance to furnish them with write-ups immediately after they have happened! They have the right to expect that, and they will give you a black eye when future events come if you do not honor that right."

It is perfectly ridiculous for instance, to advertise a church service and conclude by saying "everyone welcome to these services." Anyone having no other church home will find a welcome there."

Of course they are and will. People expect that, and what is the sense in putting it in a church announcement which in itself is an invitation.

If preachers would realize that this all requires time to read in copy, to set up, and to read in proof they would realize that it is an imposition upon the newspapers which have other important news to print. There is a certain news value in the announcement of Sunday services, sermon topics, special meetings for the following week, but their value ends here. These announcements should be brief. The place to amplify them is the pulpit not the church column of Saturday's newspaper.

ADVICE

GIVEN BY UNITED STATES JUDGE TO CLASS OF NATURALIZED FOREIGNERS.

Urged Upon Them. Allegiance to This Country and Avoidance of Labor Strikes

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Pittsburgh, Jan. 15.—Judge Jos. Buffington of the United States circuit court of appeals, addressing 100 newly naturalized foreigners in the Federal court here yesterday, pointed out that they now had but one country to support, and urged them to be careful about participating in labor strikes, as he thought but little good could come from them.

"You men now owe an allegiance to the United States, and should support it against all enemies both domestic and foreign," said Judge Buffington.

"If this country should be plunged into war, and God forbid that it ever will, you must remember that you owe your allegiance to this country only, even against the land of your birth. Attend night school and have your children attend day school. Back up the teachers and help them with your children. Drinking booze when your children need shoes is the worst temptation you will encounter. Also remember your marriage vows and keep them. Get acquainted with American men and women and have your families get acquainted with American people. It will help you. In the old country you were accustomed to seeing soldiers standing about the streets to make you do right. In this country we don't have the soldiers, but we have the law just the same. Obey the laws and we will help you."

Theatres

Surpassing Spectacles in "Aloha Oe."

Spectacular effects that surpass anything ever achieved before in a photo play will be shown in the new Triangle production "Aloha Oe." at the Auditorium theater next Friday and Saturday. There is a storm at sea where the waves gradually rise higher and higher and finally surge over the ship, dashing men overboard, and where the terrible blast of wind tears the sails to shreds and scowls the stars and rigging. How the ship rocks and how the men fight for their lives and how all their attempts are in vain, and the vessel is lost on the rocks and utterly wrecked! It is a masterpiece of reality and makes the audience shudder and almost believe that they are actually in peril of their lives from the treacherous simoon of the southern seas.

Another awe inspiring spectacle is that of Mount Pele, where first appear the gradual breaking of the crust on the crater and the escape of steam and smoke gradually becoming more and more violent till it is smoking and burning most frightfully. The wails of the natives, who have been living in fancied security, but now flee in all directions; the overwhelming showers of ashes that fall; and the great streams of lava that run down the mountain streams are communicated to the audience in thrills and suspense which could only be surpassed by being actually in such a place at an eruption.

But there are other scenes that soothe and please after these violent spectacles. There are the superbly built men and women in their scanty but picturesque native costumes, entwined with leaves and adorned with flowers. Their graceful walk and gestures naturally lead to swaying, lightsome dancing, which reminds the audience of the easy grace and charm of wild things rather than of anything that is seen in the civilized world of white men and women. The chief of the tribe in his regalia of rare skins and all manner of beads, charms and amulets brings to mind another and alien world. All the superstitions and worship of the unknown characteristic of the savage come out in the ceremonial at the eruption.

Led by some misshapen dwarfs, the beautiful daughter of the chief succeeds her father and his medicine man, followed by all the tribe, consisting of warriors with their spears and blowguns and the women carrying palm and flowers. Then the reverent worship of the beach-comber, a dexterous, distinguished criminal lawyer, is thrilling in its realistic bowings to the earth and the platings of the forehead in the ground. All in all, the whole play is replete with interest and scenic effect.

This Rural Keystone Is Full of Laughs.

As a gay and festive trickster Raymond Hitchcock will provoke deep and hilarious mirth, joy and glee in the new Triangle-Keystone comedy, "The Village Scandal," at the Auditorium theater next Friday and Saturday. Hitchcock is a trickster, yes—but was there ever such another? His dignity, his before the war light high hat and long white coat with plush collar all add to the humor with which he invests the part. His elegant bearing and stately bows to the ladies when he registers at the village hostelry heighten the effect when he dexterously inserts the quill pen into the chairwarmer's anatomy, making him a human pincushion to his intense discomfort.

Then Hitchcock is grace itself in his flirtation with Fatty's sweetheart until his attention wanders to the uncouth gesture of a boarder who is shoveling beans into himself by means of a knife. Hitchcock's attempt to demonstrate how much more genteel is the use of the fork results in literally spilling the beans. He soon recovers his amusing loss of poise and dignity.

He gracefully whisks a cloth from under a pile of dishes and uses it for a napkin in place of his ruined one. Then he has the rustic lookers on gaping when he extracts an egg from the landlady's nose.

Finally Hitchcock wins over the girl and takes her to the parlor, where she plays the organ while Hitchcock sings. His frantic attempts to sing louder than his rival can play outside on a trombone and finally his facial contortions when the outthrusting instrument hits him in the face are still more humorous. Then comes laugh after laugh as he throws the pitcher of ice water on the offender outside, only to be almost drowned in return by that obnoxious individual, who turns the hose on Hitchcock.

Crooks and Sleuths in a Funny Keystone.

Murray and Summerville as dime novel detectives and Louise Fazenda and Ed Kennedy as a pair of bank robbers, assisted by Harry Booker as landlord and a whole bunch of funny people, including the famous Keystone cops, keep things moving and afford laugh after laugh in "The Great Vacuum Robbery," a new Triangle-Keystone farce at the Auditorium next Monday and Tuesday.

Louise Fazenda and Ed Kennedy rob a bank by means of a vacuum cleaner. They operate through the rooms of Charles Murray and Slim Summerville. The robbers chloroform the would be detectives and gain entrance to the cashier's room through a ventilator shaft.

By means of the hose quantities of paper money are shot up to the detectives' rooms and gathered together in a grip. The cashier has been fooled by Kennedy, who posed as a plumber to get entrance to the money room and then hit the official on the head. A bank policeman gives the alarm, but the robbers escape.

Police are summoned, and in their researches they find the robbery was pulled off through the ventilator and by means of the dime novel men's rooms. The amateur, however, have gone in disguise to the hotel rooms where the robbers have fled. Murray is disguised as a woman, but Summerville contents himself with false whiskers.

Murray enters Kennedy's rooms and gets the robbers' loot by an exchange of grips. Kennedy finds a grip containing woman's apparel and fights with Louise. Then he finds Kennedy carrying his grip and takes it away by force. Summerville calls the police.

They chase the robbers over the roof. It gives way under their feet, and they fall through three stories. Cashier Trask is in his glory and "knocks 'em cold" with an ax head and exits with his coin.

Lillian Gish Stars in "The Lily and the Rose."

How the roselike, flamboyant charms of a woman won a man from his life-long wife is pictured in "The Lily and the Rose," the new Triangle play coming to the Auditorium theater next Monday and Tuesday. Lillian Gish, who was so well liked as Elsie Stoneman in "The Birth of a Nation," played the part of Mary Randolph, the sweet southern lily, and Rozsika Dolly that of the rose, Wilfred Lucas was the husband of Miss Gish, and the interest of the story revolves around the winning of him away from his wife by the dashing, daring Rozsika Dolly.

Miss Gish is the sheltered, sweet, gentle girl of the south. She is shown living in a beautiful colonial house, surrounded by flowers and shrubs. Then a fashionable relative fires the girl's imagination by telling her of an ex-football hero and master of men. Then Miss Gish meets and marries him. Wilfred Lucas, as the man, soon tires of his sweet, innocent young wife, Miss Gish, and goes to see a lively show. He is not much interested until Miss Dolly appears doing a daring oriental dance. Then swiftly follows his acquaintance with her.

It is not until the unsuspecting Miss Gish gets an anonymous letter of warning that she realizes the duplicity of Lucas. She goes to see the dancer perform and cannot comprehend the secret of her power. Miss dancer is displayed to the utmost advantage in a scene at the beach. Miss Dolly is shown in the company of Lucas, dressed in bathing garb, with filmy draperies. Miss Dolly does a whirling, thrilling dance on the sands and ends up with a race to the top of a rock and a leap into the surf.

Bara Injured.

"Destruction," the latest Theda Bara release by William Fox is a play that Miss Bara will have plenty of reason to long remember. So intense is this noted film star in the matter of realism in all the pictures in which she appears that she goes to great extremes to bring out the full force of the scenes.

The story of Destruction is one that deals with capital and labor, and is scheduled to appear for one day only tomorrow (Sunday) at the Auditorium theatre. There is one scene at the foundry of the large steel mills in the state of Pennsylvania and when the Fox company appeared at the mill for the purpose of having one of the scenes filmed, Miss Bara was so painfully burned about the shoulders and arms that she was under the care of a physician for two weeks. The burning was caused when the "pour" from the big cupola was made into the wet sand molds on the main floor. Miss Bara fell screaming with pain and was prevented further filming during the remainder of the day.

At The Gem Sunday.

Manager Gallagher of the Gem has secured an exceptionally fine picture for Sunday when he presents for your approval a great 5-act drama, "The Marked Woman." This picture is a Shubert feature and was released through the World Film Corp. and all who have seen Shubert features know that they will not be disappointed by going to the Gem Sunday. This picture is a picture you will long remember and has a great cast of stars headed by incomparable Barbara Tennant and Walter Johnson. The show is continuous, 1:00 p. m. to 10:30 p. m.

On Monday a thrilling Mutual Movie, "Society Wolves," a wonderful production in 5-acts on the regular Mutual Service, starring Elaine Ferris and a superb cast of stars. Admission 5c.

"The Man From Oregon," a 5-act Mutual Master Picture starring Howard Hickman, Clara Williams and Herschel Mayall, production by the Domino Film Co. of the New York Motion Picture Corporation. This picture is sure to please all who see it and like all Master pictures is the best that can be secured. The story is as follows: Honest Jim Moore is a Congressman of Oregon (Howard Hickman) and is called to Washington to vote upon the "Land Grab Bill," and upon arriving finds out that it is a scheme to rob the poor land owners of their land. In the meantime he finds and becomes acquainted with an adventurous and falls for her cunning ways. While clasp her in his arms one night he is photographed by one of the gang who threatens to expose him if (Continued on Page 9, Col. 6.)

Lillian Gish as the Lily in "The Lily and the Rose," a New Triangle-Fine Arts Drama of the Eternal Sex Problem.

Gish asks one of her men friends in the party if the dancer is the type of woman that men like. He gives her a dubious answer, which satisfies her that she must do something to offset the wiles of Miss Dolly. She learns a new dance and gives it while her husband is present at a social affair. She is disheartened when Lucas fails to enthuse over the performance and goes away to see the fascinating Miss Dolly.

There is a strong scene when the girl wife is seen in a room opposite to the hotel where the dancer is stopping. Miss Gish displays feelingly the tender, clinging nature of the wife, and the working of her beautiful face brings out vividly the changes of emotions as she sees her husband in company with Miss Dolly and realizes that she has lost him forever.

Granville

(Special to the Advocate.)

Granville, Jan. 15.—Mayor C. D. Coons was elected chairman at the mass-meeting of town and township citizens held last evening in the Granville Opera House by the goodly number present. The subject of building a joint high school building in the village for the accommodation of all in the township was given a thorough and impartial hearing. The advantages of such a course were well set forth, as it is obvious to even the casual observer that neither town nor township is up to the standard of equipment for its public schools. Mayor Coons called upon several citizens to speak to the subject, and invited free discussion by all present, who held opinions concerning it. Among the speakers called upon were: Dr. J. W. Rohrer, chairman of the Granville school board, Dr. C. J. Rose, Mr. T. M. Kier, Rev. Millard Brelsford, Rev. Otto Geisen, President C. W. Chamberlain, Mr. Benjamin Jones, Mrs. J. M. Swartz, Miss Hoover, and Miss James. Mr. Burton Case suggested that a guarantee be offered the people of the township that their rights in such a building would be secured to them. After several other volunteer speakers had been heard, a rising vote was taken, showing the assemblage unanimously in favor of the project as outlined.

There will be the regular services on Sunday in all the churches. In St. Luke's church, second Sunday after Epiphany, morning sermon at 10 o'clock; vesper service at 4 p. m. In the Methodist Episcopal church, the morning sermon by the pastor, Rev. Otto Geisen, will have as topic: "The Interdependence of Believers." The evening discourse, "The Man With a Withered Hand." In the Presbyterian church the pastor, Rev. E. D. Barnes, will preach for both services. Topic for the evening, "I Am the Way, the Truth and the Life." In the Baptist church there will be special services, both morning and evening, by the pastor, Rev. Millard Brelsford. The evening service will be continued and will be held every night except Saturday until January 30. There will be special music and a welcome to all. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the speaker will be Dr. P. A. Agar of New York. During these three days there will be meetings for women every afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. A cordial welcome is extended to all.

Mrs. Clarence Heisey was in Granville yesterday calling on Shepardson college friends. When in college here she was a member of Kappa Phi sorority.

Quite a number of Granville people have bought season tickets for the Artists' Course of three high-class concerts to be given in Newark, which the Newark Women's Music club is offering. Francis Macmillen, violinist, ranks next or equal to Misha Elman in virtuosity and every one who loves that "king of instruments" should take advantage of this splendid opportunity afforded them. Reservations for the course will be made on Monday. Mrs. Charles B. White will cheerfully furnish further information.

The people of Granville and community will be entertained in the Granville Opera House this evening by Strickland Gillilan, or at least those so fortunate as to hold course tickets or the price of a single admission.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union held its regular meeting on Friday afternoon, January 10, at the home of Mrs. Sarah Meyers, with a fair attendance. In the absence of the President, Mrs. John McClain, Mrs. Meyers led the devotional exercises, and conducted the meeting. The report from the market held a week ago, was given and approved. Mrs. William Russler, leader of the program, read a most interesting paper on the topic "Bringing in the Sheaves," which was supplemented by the reading of an article by Mrs. Meyers. Special music for the occasion was furnished by Paul Pendleton, who rendered several selections on the clarinet, in a pleasing manner. The next meeting will be held on January 23 at the home of Mrs. C. N. Harford in Elm street.

Prof. Karl H. Eschman, who has been in Oberlin since Monday, returned last evening to his home in Park Drive. Mrs. Eschman, who went on to Cleveland, will return in a few days.

The First Baptist church of Granville will hold extra meetings for two weeks, beginning Sunday, January 16. Next Sunday will be "Fellowship Day," and in the morning Pastor Millard Brelsford will preach on "The New Brotherhood in Christ." In the afternoon there will be a fellowship visitation.

From Monday to Wednesday, 17 to 19, Rev. Fred A. Agar, D. D., of New York will deliver a series of sermons. He will speak to women every afternoon of the three days at 3:30 o'clock, and preach in the auditorium every evening at 7 o'clock.

Thursday and Friday Dr. L. W. Doolan of Columbus will speak to the school children in the afternoons and in the auditorium in the evening.

K. OF P.
Newark Lodge.
No. 13 met on the 11th in regular session and if there is anything in suggestion it did not show up at this meeting for there was a good crowd out to witness the installation of officers and the conferring of the Pass Rank on a class of three candidates. Four applications were voted upon and elected to membership. The sick members are getting along as well as could be expected. Several of the members are ill with the gripe which we hope this cold spell will eliminate, that is the gripe, not the brothers.

Couple Anxiously Await Word From Parents Living In Far-Off, War-Ridden Austria-Hungary

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE GRIO
George Griu, Roumanian, 326 Beach street, and his bride of four months, daily scan the newspapers for some inkling of news from their home in the war ridden district of Transylvania, Austria-Hungary. It has been several months since word from any of their kin has been received, and the couple fear their parents have been added to the long list of "war victims."

Every morning when the postman's whistle is heard in Beach street, Mrs. Griu rushes to the front gate of the yard—and waits. With the passing of the postman and no letter—tears of disappointment spring to her eyes. Returning to the house she resumes her housework in a half hearted way. Faint hope is again aroused in the afternoon, when the postman makes his second trip, but it is short lived.

In the evening when George returns home from the Wehrle plant where he is employed in the press-room, his first query of—"any word," is met by a mute response in the negative. He, too worries over the non-arrival of a letter, but tries to dissuasion the fears of his wife.

"Some day, little girl, we'll hear and then everything will be alright," he whispers. But his words, oft repeated, fail to encourage, and each day the little wife standing at the gate—looks—and waits.

one of the best meetings that has been held for a long time, the occasion being the annual Roll Call of the members. About 85 members being present and three of the original charter members, W. C. Seward, Chas. W. Moore and Henry L. Swartz, and quite a number of the old time members including the first member adopted by the camp after the camp was started being Neighbor Benj. B. Jones. The usual routine of business was transacted first and two applications for beneficial membership and one by transfer card were acted upon. The following officers were installed by installing Consul B. F. McDonald assisted by installing escort F. R. Shide, Past Consul—Ward B. Howell, Consul—Geo. S. Howard, E. B. Pratt, Advisor—A. E. Dilline, Clerk—Edward C. Richardson, Banker—H. O. Cramer, Escort—B. F. Albright, Watchman—Jas. L. Lafaver, Sentry—D. A. Shields, Trustees—E. B. Pratt.

After the officers were installed, Neighbor N. C. Sherburne, chairman of the roll call meeting took the chair and short remarks were made by the following members who gave very interesting talks about the early history of the camp, Neighbor W. C. Seward, Chas. W. Moore, Henry L. Swartz, Benj. B. Jones, C. L. H. Long, F. W. Maranville, T. A. Pulk, S. C. Aldord, James Criswell, Chas. S. Howard, E. B. Pratt and Thos. W. Tabler.

Neighbors J. A. Meharty, S. W. Swan and R. E. Davis were reported sick and neighbors living near these neighbors are requested to call upon them.

After the business of the camp was over all retired to the banquet room where the committee on refreshments had prepared roast pork, mashed potatoes and gravy, apple sauce, coffee and rolls and every member did justice to the supper.

MODERN WOODMEN.
Cedar Camp No. 4727 M. W. of A. held Lodge on Tuesday evening the Page rank was conferred on a class of five candidates. Several were elected to membership and one new petition was received. A number of the brothers are on the sick list, most of them suffering from the epidemic of grip now prevalent. All of them are getting along nicely. All the newly-elected officers were not present, but those on hand took hold of the work in a manner that indicated they intend to perform their duties in an efficient manner.

Licking County Trappers Receive $40,000 Annually; All the Products Are Shipped

A great deal of the fur which is bedecking the suits and dresses of the fair sex this season throughout the United States, is, according to James W. Wilson, fur dealer, 25 Spencer street, the product of Licking county trappers.

The Wilson Fur company are the purchasing agents for the Traugott-Schmidt & Sons Fur Exporters, Detroit, Mich., and just recently disposed of a consignment of furs to the latter company amounting to $54,000. Another lot was disposed of to Becker Bros., fur dealers, New York City, for $12,000; to Thor & Company, New York, $10,000, and several smaller lots bringing from $500 to $1,000.

The local company lays claim to being the largest fur dealer operating strictly in furs secured by Ohio trappers, its yearly sale of furs being $150,000. Licking county trappers receive an average, yearly, of $40,000 for their furs.

"The new fur law recently put into effect in Ohio, is a great boon to the fur dealers," Mr. Wilson said Saturday. "This year the trappers in Licking county will benefit by a gain of about $50,000 and the state of Ohio will do to its average of $200,000 to $400,000.

"The skunks were practically exterminated under the ruling of the old fur law, but the new law will in two years cause the skunk business to surpass the wool business," he said. "After February 1, it will be illegal to catch or destroy skunks in this state until next November."

"The average price brought by skunk hides this winter has been $7. But with the new law I expect to see the trappers' price soar. We do a daily business of from $1,500 to $2,000 at our place and the majority is Licking county product."
